CINEMAROSA FILM SERIES: “Queer Movies in Queens”

By Olga Espinal

Cinemarosa is an independent program launched by Hector Canonge in May 2004 with the purpose of creating a cultural space for the gay population of Queens. Supporting and assisting intellectual and artistic initiatives related with the Gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender communities, Cinemarosa is now presenting Queens' only Queer Film Series exhibiting fiction and non-fiction works that show different aspects of the gay and lesbian experience.

Every third Sunday of the month at 3:00 p.m in the Queens Museum of Art at Flushing Meadows Park there will be double screening of the queer independent films, the admission is free and there is a forum discussion with the audience and some of the artists following the presentation. The spring cycle started on February 20th with a good attendance and will go on until the month of May.

The Fall 2005 film series will start next June with the celebration of the Queens Pride Festival and will continue with outdoor presentations of new films that now can be submitted for consideration. Visit www.cinemarosa.org for more details on the spring festival or if you are interested to participate in upcoming events.
